ALL-IRELAND HURLING SEMI-FINAL TICKETS

Limerick will face Galway in the All-Ireland senior hurling championship semi-final on this Sunday 3rd July in Croke Park at 3.30pm with a capacity of 81,000 tickets will be plentiful and anyone who wishes to attend the game will be able to do so as the game won't be a sell-out. Tickets are still on sale online and from local Centra and SuperValu outlets. In light of this club officers have decided not to request an allocation of tickets from the county board for this fixture. Club members are kindly asked to purchase directly online and from local Centra and SuperValu outlets. The ticketing situation has proved challenging one for those club officers responsible for ordering, handling and distributing said tickets over the last couple years (through no fault of Limerick County Board or the club). Croke Park deal with Ticketmaster has resulted in a generous burden being placed on club officers due to placing orders receiving codes, issuing codes emails, registering Ticketmaster accounts payment up front required on occasions and not on other therefore in light of the above the club have taken the reluctant decision to not order tickets for the All-Ireland semi-final on July 3rd placing an order for 200 or 300 tickets and all the subsequent work it entails would require a significant body of work with the possibility, fingers crossed of a repeat a fortnight later. The club felt it prudent to take this course of action for the semi-final. The only exception is for club members who do not have access to a smart phone, email or a printer. In this scenario the club facilitate orders for said club members otherwise club members are politely asked to source tickets directly themselves online and from local Centra and SuperValu outlets. Thank you for your understanding in this matter and hopefully there will be a big travelling support from the club on the day to support the boys in green and white.
